

INDOOR ADVENTURES

If you're looking for a unique team building experience but want to keep the fun indoors, Paint The Town Red's Indoor Adventures might be for you! Teams will compete against each other in a series of exciting challenges that will require them to communicate with each other and work together if they want to succeed.

While more traditional games are known to test physical attributes such as strength and speed, they won't be of any help with these challenges. The successful teams will be the ones that are creative, quick-thinking, and most importantly, embrace the concept of teamwork!

Sample Challenges

Test Track Challenge: The object of this challenge is to navigate a remote-control race car through a series of cones, slalom style. The catch is that the 'driver' is blindfolded and must receive directions from one of his/her teammates to help navigate. Once the car reaches the finish line, a new pair of teammates must navigate back to the original starting point.

A Puzzling Piece: Each group will have to assemble a 100-piece puzzle as quickly as possible. After it's put together they'll have to flip it over and a phone number will be written on the back. Calling the number and listening to the instructions will give teams the answer they need to proceed to the next challenge.
